ABSTRACT (250 words or less):

Madison 201 is a large lecture hall that is in critical need of a computing/AV upgrade. The speakers and projection system are inadequate for the room, with students in the back of the rooms having difficulty seeing and hearing the lectures. The computing system is ancient and can not accommodate some types of teaching tools. Approximately 900-1000 students attend two to three lectures in the room every week during the academic semester. The College of Engineering is in the middle of an accreditation and must show adequate classrooms with technology. The funding of this grant will fulfill the obligation as well as impact all engineering students.
